CATHOLIC SCHOOLS

In All Their Phases to Be Discussed by Eminent Educators.

The sixth annual meeting of the Catholic Educational Association will assemble at Boston next Monday and will remain in session until Thursday evening. The membership is open to every pastor or assistant in the United States and to all members of teaching communities and to all laymen interested in any way in Catholic education. There has been a notable increase in the membership during the past twelve months, and from reports received the attendance this year will exceed all former years.

A programme of exceptional interest and a special degree of attention will be given the needs and importance of Catholic higher education. In the parish school department a committee is engaged in preparing a catalogue of suitable books for children. Diocesan organization of the parish schools will be discussed by the Superintendents. Archbishop O'Connell will deliver the opening address after the mass on the first day of the convention. Cardinal Gibbons and other eminent prelates and educators will take part in the deliberations from day to day.

COURT HOUSE

Is Built by Judge Keogh On His Private Ground.

Justice Martin J. Keogh, of the Ninth Judicial district of the New York Supreme Court, has the distinction of being the only Judge in the Empire State that has a court house on his own property. It is within a stone's throw of his residence, near New Rochelle, and there he holds a special session of the Supreme Court every Saturday. Every St. Patrick's day Judge Keogh organizes a street parade. The last one had more than 5,000 men in line and it started from the lawn in front of his residence. Although a Democrat he has been thrice elected in a strong Republican district. His term expires this year and he will be re-elected without opposition. In 1893 Judge Keogh married Miss Katherine Emmet, a great niece of Robert Emmet, the Irish patriot.

BELLEVUE WEDDING.

Many Louisville friends will be interested to learn that Miss Ida A. Cassidy and K. W. Dyas will be united in marriage at the rectory of Rev. Father Frank Kehoe on the evening of Wednesday, July 21. The bride-elect is the accomplished daughter of Mayor Joseph A. Cassidy, of Bellevue, who has long been active in Y. M. I. circles in Kentucky.

FONTAINE FERRY PARK.

This has been a record breaking week for the season at Fontaine Ferry Park despite heavy rains. The fresh air and leafy lanes alone would attract, but the excellence of the band concerts and the splendid vaudeville show made the "Ferry" doubly attractive. Another strong vaudeville bill is promised for next week.

STARS FOR MACAULEY'S.

Macauley's Theater is to have the shows on the road during the coming season. Blaise and Harrison Grey Fiske, have joined with Klav and Erlanger to book their best attractions at this house. Among the artists that will be presented are Blanche Bates, George Orless, Mrs. Fiske and David Warfield.

SISTER CHARITAS DEAD.

Word was received here on Friday of last week announcing the death of Sister Charitas, who passed away in a convent in St. Louis. She was a native of Falmouth, Pendleton county, and was twenty-four years old. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Coleman, of Falmouth, survive her.

BUNKER HILL.

Celebrated Battle in Which Raw Recruits Worsteds the Enemy.

Flower of the British Forces Mowed Down by Patriotic Farmers.

An Irish-American General Led the Yankee Soldiers in the Fight.

WHERE DEFEAT WAS VICTORY

The battle of Bunker Hill was fought on June 17, 1775, and in many respects it was one of the most remarkable conflicts on record. The pursuit of the British from Concord and Lexington a few months before was a daring skirmish after the Indian fashion, every patriot fighting on his own responsibility. But the encounter at Bunker Hill was a much more deliberate trial of skill, spirit and endurance, though under very unequal conditions. The patriots, with their ammunition exhausted and no bayonets on their guns, were compelled to retreat, but they bore with them the moral effects of a victory.

They had inflicted frightful losses on the British and they fell back to their lines at Cambridge, fully satisfied of their own ability to meet and defeat the enemy under any fair circumstances. Previously it had been a fixed tradition that no raw levies could withstand for a moment the onslaught of the British regulars. That tradition was broken in an hour.

The archives of the State of Massachusetts contain the muster rolls of the brave band who fought at Bunker Hill, and among them are over 400 distinctly Irish names. Washington had been chosen Commander-in-Chief, but he had not arrived at the scene of conflict when the battle took place. Gen. Artemus Ward was still the provisional commander, and was ably aided by the Irish-American Gen. Stark, with Putnam, Prescott, Warren, Pomeroy and others who had won distinction in military service.

Learning that the British were about to attack them, Prescott was detailed with a thousand men to seize Charlestown on the night of June 16 and fortify the heights. He was joined by Gen. Putnam and they made a gallant defense as the British swept against them at Bunker Hill, where breastworks were being hastily thrown up. About 11 o'clock next day when Prescott called for reinforcements Gen. Stark, with 500 New Hampshire troops, largely composed of Irish-Americans, was sent to his relief. The enemy was rapidly approaching and Gen. Stark stationed his men near a rail fence at the base of Bunker Hill and gave the orders for the fight.

It was a strategic point and Howe, the British commander, led his force in person. Stark and his gallant men fought for hours. Charlestown was in flames; shots from ships and batteries were hissing around them; many of them had never been in battle before; very many had worked all night long building the redoubt and were almost ready to sink to the ground from exhaustion. Twice they had hurled back from their defenses the flower of the British army, and when they did retire it was only after their powder had given out and they were overwhelmed by the superior force of their foes. Stark's men were expert marksmen and used their skill in picking off the British officers. Stark was everywhere among his men encouraging them to greater efforts.

When the Americans retired, after having exhausted their ammunition, it was to all practical purposes a victory. The British lost 1,500 men in killed and wounded, including eighty-nine commissioned officers wounded and thirteen killed. The loss of the Americans was only 450 killed and wounded. The granite shaft erected to commemorate the scene is one of the most impressive historic monuments in America, as the battle was one of the most important in the struggles for liberty.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

Late News That Will Interest Members Here and Elsewhere.

Nashville is planning to buy or build a club house at an estimated cost of $30,000.

Martin J. Griffin, the noted Irish-American historian, has been initiated by Philadelphia Council.

F. L. Monteverde has presented Memphis Council with a complete morocco bound set of the Catholic Encyclopedia.

The council at Dunkirk, N. Y., has offered a gold medal to the pupil of St. Mary's parochial school that shows the greatest general proficiency in all the branches.

Hon. Richard Campbell, who was appointed a Judge in the Philippine Islands last fall, is a prominent member of the order. He is now visiting friends and relatives in the United States.

The annual encampment of the Knights and their families at Cedar Point, near Sandusky, Ohio, opened last Sunday. Nearly every council in Ohio, Indiana, Western Pennsylvania and Kentucky is represented in the gathering.

The Right Rev. Bishop Donahue, of Wheeling, recently attended a social session of Wheeling Council and some of the members twitted him on his skepticism regarding the order, but he promptly replied: "You young men imagine that you belong to a secret society, but you are very much deceived. I have been up in the cupola of the Cathedral, and with the aid of a telescope have discovered everything that you have been doing. I know all of your signs. I know your passwords, and I even know the color of your goat."

STRONG PLEA

For Christian Education Is Made by Bishop of Trenton.

The Right Rev. Bishop McFaul, of Trenton, delivered the baccalaureate address at the closing exercises of St. Francis Xavier's College last week, and Catholic parents should weigh well his words. He said in part:

"What we want is to send them to Catholic schools, where we teach them that there are such commandments as 'Thou shalt not steal,' 'Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.' No church power but the Catholic church can stem these evils. The Catholic church is here today to cure the present evils. Our mission is to uproot socialism, to destroy divorce and teach Christianity. The salvation of the republic depends on Christian teaching. We must consider as one of the problems of the day the education of the millions. Why, even the universities, Harvard, Yale and Princeton, do not teach the Bible, the feticus of modernists. If ever our church at its principles are in danger, the Catholic church will be its salvation. While I yield to no man my esteem for the American Catholic laity, there is one respect in which we are defective. We might follow the example of the German Catholics with profit. They have created an apostolate of the Catholic press. The Catholic newspapers in that country have increased from five to five hundred and are reaching three million Catholics in that country. They know through these mediums what the problems are and how they may be solved."

COSTLY NEW EDIFICE.

The congregation of Gonzaga church, Spokane, Wash., are planning to erect a new church at a cost of $150,000, and of this amount $80,000 is to be used for the structure. Pledges are rapidly accumulating and $30,000 has already been subscribed.

LOWELL PASTOR DEAD.

The Rev. Father Michael Ronan, pastor of St. Peter's church, Lowell, Mass., for twenty-five years, died in that city last Saturday. He was one of the oldest and most popular pastors in Massachusetts. His church was one of the handsomest in Lowell.

SUPERIOR OF OBLATES.

The Very Rev. Augustus Dantevill, Superior of St. Catherine's Convent of Mary Immaculate, arrived in New York from France last Saturday. He expects to visit all the houses of the order in the United States. He was met by two American Oblates from Texas.

PHILOSOPHY OF IT.

"Well," said Cassidy, "it's too bad that none of us kin ever be as good as some people think we should be." "Aye!" replied Casey, "but 'tis casin' to think that none of us kin ever be as bad as some people think we are."

DOMINICAN RETREAT.

The annual retreat of the Dominican nuns at St. Catherine's Convent at Springfield will begin on July 15 and end July 22. The Rev. Father Brockbank, O. P., will come from Minneapolis to conduct the retreat.

CHANGE OF MASSES.

During the Sundays in July and August the late mass at St. Louis Bertrand's church at 10:30 o'clock will be a low mass. During the two months there will be a high mass at 9 o'clock instead of at 10:30.

OFF FOR EUROPE.

The Rev. Brother Richard, of St. Xavier's College, who went to Baltimore about a fortnight ago, has completed his retreat there and with Rev. Brother Norbert sailed for Europe this week.

SCHOOL FUND PICNIC.

A picnic for the new school fund for St. Vincent de Paul's congregation will be given at Phoenix Hill Park on Tuesday, July 27. The ground for the new school has been purchased.

NEW RECTOR IN ROME.

Rev. Dr. Shahan, the new Rector of the Catholic University at Washington, D. C., arrived in Rome last week and presented his reports of conditions at the university to the Pope.

IN SEARCH OF HEALTH.

The Rev. Father Bernard H. Westerman, pastor of St. Mary's church, who has been seriously ill, recovered sufficiently to start for Mt. Clemens, Mich., this week.

PASTOR VISITS FRIENDS.

The Rev. Father Sleimers, pastor of St. Bridget's church at Memphis, visited friends in Louisville last week.

HINTS ON STYLE.

The separate waist, though written out by fashion scribes as regularly as the season changes, and as often brought in by the manufacturers in irresistible styles, continues to flourish.

The polonaise is a growing fashion and it is more than likely that a good deal of it will be seen next fall. If Louis XV. styles are again materialized it will be sure to crop out.

With the return to shorter shoulder lines the scarf is now worn off on the shoulders and not thrown off on to the arms, as has been the fashion of late.

The advance styles show that the skirt made with the snug fitting yoke will be among the smartest shown in the next few months.

One sees neckties now of white washable materials, with the monogram of the wearer done in colors. Draped waists are popular. Never were linen suits more popular than now.
